Northgear tactical vest with insert training plates

Northgear Insert Training Plate

In a normal daily use the ceramic plates will take a lot of beating during the exercises, when the soldier throws himself to the ground and in other rough situations the ceramic plate risks to crack and lose its ballistic performance.

The Northgear insert training plate will save a lot of money as the sharp ceramic plates always will be functional when it comes to a real situation.

The Northgear insert training plate has the same shape and weight as a standard ceramic level IV plate.
